

MEGANITE™

Acrylic Solid Surface

Why MEGANITE is the Best Choice for Solid Surface Countertops

MEGANITE INHIBITS THE GROWTH OF BACTERIA

MEGANITE offers a high degree of safety and cleanliness. This is very important for all of your food preparation areas. MEGANITE is completely non-porous and, unlike granite, will not absorb or allow juices, liquids, and bacteria into your tops. The surface fissures of granite allow a host of materials to penetrate deep into its surface, and the recommended periodic and frequent sealing will not completely resolve this issue. MEGANITE never needs sealing and meets critical standardized testing for food safety, making it superior for use in your home or in any commercial kitchen.

TIMELESS BEAUTY - A SEAMLESS LOOK

Seams in a MEGANITE top are virtually invisible and completely water-tight. They are fused with a special adhesive which prevents delamination or separation, eliminating the accumulation of moisture, dirt, and food debris. When you compare MEGANITE solid surface to granite, plastic laminate, or stone tops in which seams are visible and not water-tight, it's easy to see why MEGANITE is the preferred product for seaming.

MEGANITE IS STAIN RESISTANT

Fissures and surface blemishes in granite will absorb most kitchen spills, which can result in difficult stain removal. Stains won't penetrate MEGANITE's solid acrylic surface. It can easily be renewed with mild abrasives to remove any residues or stains.

SOLID AND DURABLE

As the name implies, it is solid all the way through, a full 1/2" thick. Unlike thin veneers and laminates, it will not peel off or wear away.

MEGANITE IS NON-POROUS

Unlike stone products and natural granites, MEGANITE is completely non-porous. This means it is very easy to clean, is stain resistant, and never needs sealing. Since it will not absorb any water, MEGANITE is ideal for wet applications such as shower and tub enclosures.

ALWAYS LOOKS LIKE NEW

The decorative surface can be restored to its original look without loss in product quality, regardless of its age. Minor scratches and blemishes are easily removed. If damage does occur, qualified professionals can repair the area to look like new.

MOLDED, SEAMED-IN SINKS

Your solid surface sinks will be chemically welded to the countertop with no bacteria-catching gaps or messy caulks often used with laminates and granites. MEGANITE sinks are the ideal choice for highly sensitive environments because they are stain resistant, durable, and renewable.
